

Woman To Woman

Volume 1 Issue 3
August 2008

Women are role models to both men and women. We have been created by God to be an influence to both genders. We can either build, destroy or stunt ones growth in pursuing their destiny.

The first teaching both genders receive is from their mother. The mother is the one that instills character, trains them both in the natural and spiritual. Although the male produce the seeds, the baby germinates in the woman's womb for nine months. During her time of pregnancy, what she does has an influence on her child while it's still in the womb. Whatever the mother is receiving so is the unborn child. Many times women ask why men treat women the way they do. The answer is because the majority of the time, men didn't have a woman teaching them how to respect and honor women. Women have to teach young girls as they grow up how to be respectful young women. They also have to teach young boys how to respect females and if the woman doesn't respect herself, it's left up to him to assist her in respecting herself by precept and example. A woman's character can cause a male to respect or disrespect her. Our dress attire has another way of pronouncing what's in the inside by manifesting on the outside.

When a man looks at us, he knows whether or not the way we dress and the way we respond to his look if we're his catch. If we don't respect ourselves the male will not if he's hasn't been taught to respect women. When I say respect I'm indicating more than just sexual gratification respect, but respect of your thoughts and wishes, your goals and dreams. If friends, relatives, and spouses cannot respect you for who you are and what you desire to be there is a problem with the relationship. This doesn't mean we disrespect them verbally or in our mannerism, but through prayer, God will give us the way to gain the respect we deserve.

YOU'RE NOT ALONE

We go through a lot as women, we play different roles throughout the day, and still have to try to keep our sanity. There is nothing we go through God does not have the answer to. Women play many roles and God has given us His Grace to carry out every role we have to play. Need an answer, let your request be made known to God through prayer and supplication (Philippians 4:6)

Sometimes the burden get so heavy, we feel as though we're alone. Whether you're married or single you're not alone. God is just a prayer away. There is nothing you're going through that God does not see, hear and feel. Prayer strengthens our faith and relationship with God. As we're connected to God, He empowers us to go through whatever we have to go through in life and come out of it with victory. Want to have victory in life situations, make a commitment to pray and commit yourself to God and watch God order your footsteps.

TAKE TIME FOR YOUR CHILDREN

Children are gifts from God, they are loaned to us for a season. Women are busy working and raising and providing for their family, but never get so busy that you don't have time for your child(ren).

Children are easily influenced, and if we don't influence them someone else will. Take the time to hear what your child is saying. The reason why many of our children are gang bangers is because they didn't have any one to teach them, love them and correct them. You can be your child's friend as well as the parent. It's left to the parent to teach the child how to respect both roles.

We make sure we keep them busy with different activities, buying them what we think they want, but not taking the time to spend quality time with them to see what's in their hearts, what's in their minds. Children need a parent they can talk to about anything and as they feel that freedom they will not be so quick to listen to someone else opinion that may lead them to a life of destruction.

Children are under pressure, many times they seek approval of their peers, but as parents we must teach them how to be themselves not seeking approval from people. If we start taking the time to spend ten to fifteen minutes a day just to listen and converse with our children, we would be surprised by the things they may want to talk about or have questions and concerns about.

Children also need parents that will be an example of a true Christian, not one that attends church on Sunday, but then live a life that is contrary to the word of God Monday through Saturday. The reason why many people don't want to hear the Gospel is because of what they saw in the home as children. The Bible teaches us to train up a child in the way they should go and when they get old they will not depart.

In other words they will not depart from what has been instilled in them both naturally and spiritually. If your child never sees you pray or read the Bible, neither will they.

When we instill Godly principles in our children, we will not have to visit them in jail, in a mental institution or a grave site because of bad choices.

Have weekly Bible Study with your children. Pick a day to spend time with God and with your children for about an hour or hour and a half. Pray with your children. Don't let them leave the house without praying for them. As you pray for them, this will place a hedge of protection around them, it will also increase their faith in God.

Pray for angels to surround your children throughout the day, pray with them before they go to bed, pray a prayer of protection around them as they sleep. Not only will this keep a hedge of protection around your children, but this will also increase your pray life.

THERE IS NOTHING TOO HARD FOR GOD

There is nothing too hard for God. The word of God has promised us, what is impossible with man is possible with God. When you have an impossible situation, know that God can make it possible. Know that God can open a better door of employment. God can promote you on the job when they say you can't get a higher position. Know that God can deliver that drug addict child. He can return a run-away child. He can make that wayward husband come back home. He can take you out of an apartment and bless you to purchase a home. He can take you off a job and give you a business of your own. God can heal whatever disease you may have. God can help you to live a life of abstinence when you really want to present your body to God in holiness. He can help you to wait until He sends you a husband. What is impossible with you is possible with God! Give God your impossible situations.
