DRESS TO KILL

When we dress, we should take a good look at what we're putting on. Our dress attire tells a lot about us. As women and especially women of God, we should not want to dress to attract attention to ourselves. We can dress and look good without being provocative. When we dress provocatively, it should be when we're at home with our husbands. We shouldn't try to entice anyone except our husbands.

When we dress to bring attention to ourselves we're asking for trouble and when you seek trouble, you will find it. We need to stop and think what will be the consequences of our actions. Many women have gotten involved with men they thought would be with them for the rest of their lives, but the man they were with only became a one night stand. The one night stand became a medical problem for the rest of their life.

Being provocative to someone other than your husband can cause a complete change in your life and the lives of others. Children and family lives are being changed drastically because the parent has been diagnosed with STDs. We need to think and take control of our hormones.

Sisters we know when we're trying to entice men, and being a godly woman it shouldn't be in our character. Ungodly women think they have to find the man rather than the man finding them.

When we pray and ask God for a husband, God will not send us someone that will try to dishonor our bodies. Our bodies were bought with a price, a price neither you or I could ever repay. The Bible instructs us when a man finds a wife he finds a good thing and obtains favor from the Lord. Sisters whether we are believers or none believers, God's word will never change, the man is to find the woman.

Evangelist Luke's Message for the Month

Love and Happiness

Marriage is work and it takes two to make it work. A marriage can have love and not happiness. You can love your mate and they can love you, but there is no happiness.

Happiness is when both of you work on satisfying each others needs. One way of keeping happiness in the marriage is open communication. Every now and then ask you're mate if there is anything you can do to make your relationship better, assuming he's happy can bring problems to the marriage and visa versa. If he doesn't ask you, then let him know what he can do to make your relationship better.

Always keep in mind Satan does not want marriages because its honorable to God. Satan will try to bring division, mistrust, selfishness, strife and contention. He will bring anything and anyone that will destroy your relationship. Just like a car needs a tune-up, every marriage needs a tune-up and you find that out by asking your spouse what his needs are. and telling him what your needs are.

Also keep in mind when a man is looking for a wife, he's looking for someone that he can trust, if the woman is showing herself to whoever will look at her, he's not going to ask her to marry him, but he will play the marriage role with her. A man looks for a woman that is attractive, intelligent, and has self-respect and honors her body. Women that dress provocatively usually are insecure of themselves and men know that and will jump at the chance.

There is nothing wrong with trying to improve our appearance, but we should never try to bring attention to us in a seductive way.

Sexual diseases are on a rampant among our teenagers, young adults and now the middle age and elderly.

Women keep in mind what you're drawing attention to by your dress attire. Our dress attire tells what's really going on within ourselves. If we dress with no respect, then we will receive no respect.

As women and especially godly women, we have to help our men whether they are single or married to stay faithful to God, themselves and to their spouse. Many men think below their waist and while we are influencing them, God holds us responsible for their actions.

Spiritual relationships with the Father have been destroyed because we have dressed and influenced men to disobey the word of God by fornication and adultery. Women were created by God to be a blessing and not a curse, but when we destroy lives we're no longer a blessing, but a curse.

If you're looking for a husband, first pray and seek God for one, then dress to impress and not to depress. The way you dress is what you will draw to you and if you're looking for a husband and not a one night stand you have to dress and live with dignity.

Know That You Are Desirable Even If You Think You Aren't

Your husband married you because he loved you and he found someone he wanted to spend the rest of his life with. Down through the years we aged, we gained weight, may have lost some of hair for one reason or another, but always keep in mind you are the same person you were when you first married your husband. Just because you aged or gained weight does not mean you have to stop improving your looks to be attractive to your husband.

Sometimes we neglect our appearance because we have been married a number of years, but its does not take away that your husband still wants his wife to be attractive. Fix your hair and if you don't have any buy you some. Dress to make your husband look at you and not someone else. As women we have to observe what gets our husband attention and what gets his attention is what we should be working on. Being attractive is not wearing a size three or four, you can be hefty and still be attractive, its all about how you take care of yourself. Don't walk around your spouse daily with your hair going everywhere. If you wear make up, put a little on, comb your hair, put on some clothes that don't have holes and stains everywhere. Take off the slippers and put on shoes that will be comfortable for you indoors. Make yourself attractive to yourself and to your spouse what you feel in the inside is what you will bring towards you on the outside.

Stop going to bed every night with a scarf or a head rag, if you have to wait until he goes to sleep and put your scarf on let him see your hair sometimes, the Bible instruct us a woman's hair is her glory. Go to bed looking and smelling good. Stop going to bed with holy gowns, faded out colors and long enough to cover you as though you were a mummy. Your husband can either be attractive or unattractive to what he sees.
